

Napanoch Convict May Know About Murders

Authorities Seeking Wallace Payne, Formerly of Kingston, Whose Name Was Given by Purchaser of Revolver Used by Dix W. Noel in Double Murder in New Jersey—Payne Escaped Last August—Still at Large.

B) Telegraph to The Freeman
New York, Sept. 9.—Before Harrison Noel, 20 year old collegian goes on trial—if he ever does—for the kidnapping and murder of six year old Mary Daly of Montclair, Payne was acquainted with two or three people there. When a reporter from the New York World called him up on the telephone Tuesday evening he mentioned that fact to him and the reporter in turn notified the New Jersey detective.

N. J., the public may witness a battle between eminent abolitionists comparable to the Leopold Loeb trial in Chicago. It was indicated today.

Dix W. Nool, lawyer-father of the youthful slayer, planned to spend today conferring with his attorney, James D. Carpenter, Jr., of Jersey City, concerning the defense of his son. The elder Noel said that Carpenter would be retained in an advisory capacity and that defense counsel was to be selected later.

Meanwhile, three separate investigations were under way by New Jersey authorities as to the reason young Noel was allowed his freedom from the Overbrook Hospital for the insane in New Jersey.

Montclair police refused to drop their theory that an accomplice aided Noel in the killing of the Daly girl and the shooting to death of Raymond Pierce, negro chauffeur, whose automobile he used in the kidnapping.

John Thompson, a negro, arrested for hitting James Dorkin, another negro, over the head with a club, was fined $10 and sentenced to 15 days in the county jail. Dorkin, arrested for public intoxication, was given a 10 days' suspended jail sentence.

BROOKLYN MAN WAS FINED

Edward Smith, a white man, was fined $40 and sentenced to 15 days in the county jail for public intoxication.

Looking for Wallace Payne.
Detectives were hunting for a "Wallace Payne," who is said to have escaped from the institution for defective delinquents at Napa-nook, N. Y., a year ago. This was the name used by the purchaser of the revolver with which Noel confessed to using in his crimes.
One point that has inclined detectives toward the theory of another person concerned in the crime is the insistence of young Noel, despite his confession, that he "did not kill anybody."

Father Stands by Son.
The elder Noel is back from Chicago broken hearted by the tragedy but determined to stand by his son. Noel placed the blame for Harrison's violent crime on the Overbrook Hospital for permitting his son to go free.

The father expects to visit his son in the Essex county jail in Newark, N. J., today or tomorrow.

"I shall perform my duties as a father," he said sadly.

To Ask Murder Indictment.
The prosecutor's office of Essex county is prepared to ask for a murder indictment against young Noel today or next week when the new grand jury convenes.

Authorities at Overbrook Hospital reiterated their previous statements that young Noel was "too large" because his father vouched for his custody. They said that after he had gone from the New Jersey institution he was permitted to leave the observation ward of Bellevue Hospital in New York in the care of his parent.

Braves, is again seriously ill, it became known today.

"Matt" has been in bed twelve weeks in his Saranac Lake home, suffering from tuberculosis.

While he is in no immediate danger, according to information here, he will require months of rest and his return to active work in supervising the Boston club is problematical.

Dr. Thayer Notified Authorities.
Wallace Payne, the name given by the purchaser of the revolver used in both murders, is the man also borne by a prisoner who last August escaped from the Institution for Defective Delinquents at Napawauch, and when Dr. Walter S. Thayer, Jr., superintendent of the institution read the newspaper articles relating that fact, he called the attention of the authorities to it, thinking that perhaps Noel had been men acquainted with Payne and used his name when he obtained the revolver.

Hid in Refuse Wagon.

Payne escaped from Napanook through the aid of a fellow prisoner who drove a horse and wagon and carried refuse from the institution in the wagon. Payne crawled into the wagon and was covered over by the other man and they passed through the gates.

Mexico Opens World's Fair

Ideal Climate and Low Rates Expected to Make City a Mecca For Many From United States.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Mexico City, Sept. 9.—Tourists from the four corners of the earth and business men as well will help the capital celebrate its six hundredth anniversary during November.

Emerging hopefully from upwards of twelve years of revolution, trade stagnation and sometime chaos a group of progressive young Mexicans have decided that the time has come to renew acquaintance with the world, establish long broken contacts and restore Mexico to her place in the sun, so richly deserved by her wealth of natural resources.

For this purpose they will inaugurate on October 30 the Feria Internacional (International Fair). And during November, probably the most ideal month in a climate where all days are ideal, it will be in full swing. Trains and steamship lines will offer materially reduced rates, as will the hotels. And the government will entertain as only the government can.

To Show New Mexico.

The idea, of course, is to show the world the new Mexico, with all of its picturesque, colorful and romantic background; but a modern industrial Mexico striving to take her place as an industrial nation, one to take an active part in the exchange of the world's goods.

The United States, France, Germany, Spain, Italy, Brazil, Guatemala, The Argentine, Austria, Switzerland, Japan, Costa Rica and a number of other nations will send delegates, many of them special trains and steamships. Mexico itself will gather from all parts of the republic a rare collection of native handicrafts and products, something that probably has never before been seen, for many of the states are quite remote, seldom visited by the tourist or business man and very little is known of their resources.

Ignacio Soto, one of the younger and most progressive Mexicans, is executive president and director. He has just returned from the United States and is confident the largest travel to Mexico during the fair will be from there.

"This exposition should mark the turning point in Mexico's financial condition," said Mr. Soto. "While we expect and will welcome visitors from all nations, we particularly expect to make United States visitors happy. We want all of our old friends there to come here and see for themselves. We are their neighbors and we should have the closest of trade relations. We would like to re-establish the contacts there, broken by the revolutionary period."

Bank Open a Month.

"This is the opportune moment. The Banco Unico will have been functioning one month when the exposition opens. It will put into circulation upwards of 100,000,000 pesos, quite a sum in a country where the revenue for a year averages about 350,000,000."

"The merchants here will be in a position to buy. Their stocks are woefully depleted and they will buy liberally. Business men may bring samples with them, or goods ready for delivery. The railroads will transport this freight at one-half the regular rate and there will be no duty charged except on such articles as are sold."

"The industrial manager desirous of expanding trade in this direction, of competing with the industries of other nations, could not do better than to combine business with pleasure: to see the country for himself, to introduce his product and to meet and gauge the men with whom he will deal in the future."

But Robert Will Learn

Little Robert, age three, and his mother were visiting his aunt. His mother was the fortunate possessor of an abundance of hair, but the aunt was not so fortunate. One evening Robert was in his aunt's room when she took her hair down (or rather off) for the night, and greatly excited he ran and called: "Oh, mama, come quick. Auntie's hair has all broken off."

VANDERBILT CHATEAU IN GOTHAM TO BE SOLD

Palatial Home in New York to Be Disposed of to Make Room For Business Block.

New York.—Another of the residential show places of society's "four hundred" on Fifth avenue is to be sold to make room for a business block.

Mrs. Alice G. Vanderbilt, widow of Cornelius Vanderbilt, asked the Supreme court's approval for the sale of the Vanderbilt chateau at Fifty-seventh street for $7,100,000. Since she came into possession of the property in 1899 the valuation has increased from $1,550,000 to $4,500,000, the petition states.

Taxes, which have risen from $38,440 to $129,120, she said, have become too burdensome.

The chateau itself is assessed at only $100,000, though it cost $3,000,000 when it was built and contains some of the most valuable art objects. French wood carvings and tapestries in the country. It was built in the style of the Chateau de Blois on the River Loire in France. There is a great central ballroom in the style of Louis XVI, surrounded by a series of private suites.

The buyer is reported to be G. Maurice Heckscher, son of August Heckscher, philanthropist. The approval of the court for the sale is necessary because Mrs. Vanderbilt merely has life use of the property. All the Vanderbilts heirs have approved the sale, the petition says. The court's order directing the heirs to show cause August 26 why the sale should not be permitted is regarded as a formality.

Mrs. Vanderbilt will move ten blocks up the avenue to the former home of George J. Gould.

Representative of Cult of 3,000,000 Adherents

Bearded, clad in a long white gown, and with a face suggestive of the first apostles, C. J. Armand, the first representative of a cult which already has 3,000,000 adherents in Europe, is now preaching daily on the streets of Washington. In Germany extremists of this back-to-nature cult advocate stark nakedness, contending that clothing is a violation of nature. Armand does not advise such extreme measures, but pleads for greater simplicity in clothing and living. He lives on a farm at Fairfax, Va.

Tahiti Talks of Dropping Use of the French Franc

Papeete, Tahiti.—The instability of the French franc has revived talk in Tahiti of establishing a local unit of value independent of the fluctuations of the franc. Opinion is expressed that as Tahiti is so remote from France, and is in the position of having a constant credit trade balance, the financial difficulties of the home country should not be allowed to unsettle values and disturb business in this colony.

As a matter of fact, the money used in the colony is a local paper currency issued by the Tahiti branch of the Banque d'Indo-Chine, but it fluctuates in sympathy with the franc.

A settled form of money is the only thing necessary to usher in a period of great prosperity to the island. Both the vanilla and copra yields are increasing and are commanding good prices.

NEWS

KANTROWITZ KINGSTON.

Let us inform you, we're getting out for SOME season.

You would be as much surprised as we are to see the many different orders we are receiving daily for NEW FALL SUITS, Topcoats and overcoats.

Are we going to have a good arrangement? Well—say—wait till you see our new numbers. More and more are coming in every day. Double-breasted suits and single-breasted suits, cassimeres and worsteds, 1 pants suits and 2 pants suits and—Oh! what LOW prices.

Then Topcoats, you'll need these for these cool days and nights when it's too hot to wear that overcoat.

And say, about the overcoats, we'll tell you about them in a few weeks.

And then Boys' Suits, and Boys' overcoats, and Boys' Mackinaws and Boys' Shoes and Furnishings and Boys' Hats and Boys' this and that, including everything that boys like to wear. The newest article of course is Boys' Plaid Blouses and Buckskin shoes, both with sweater bottoms.

Then, now about Hats. Read about the way we are going to sell our hats this year. Read about the various styles. Read the reasons for the way we took in introducing to Kingston this manner of selling all in tomorrow's Freeman.

Listen, here's an apology—

When you come into our store don't look at the way the goods are scattered on the tables and if you see some shelves disarranged, please don't notice them. The windows are the same way. Don't judge what we have in the store by the window display because you're misled. We can't help it but we haven't the time to "dress" the windows or straighten up the appearance of the store. We're too BUSY. On Saturday, you can be assured of prompt service as on week-days. We won't have less than 14 clerks on that day and there will probably be more than that figure.

We have now 4 different departments just crammed with merchandise, and we really have to enlarge, but as we stated above

WERE TOO BUSY.

Y. M. C. A. Drive For $25,000

Will Be Started in This City the Week of September 28—Will Make Extensive Repairs to Building With Better Service for Members.

"A square deal for the boys of any American city includes completely modern Y. M. C. A. service."

On this basis and as a step toward completely modernizing the service of the Kingston "Y" to the boys and young men of the community, the directors of the Y. M. C. A. at their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday night decided to make a city-wide financial campaign during the week of September 28, with a goal of $25,000 with which to make extensive repairs to the plant and bring the association to the end of its fiscal year completely free of debt.

While the sum of $25,000 may seem large to the uninformed, a statistical report was presented to the directors showing that the twenty cities approximately the size of Kingston that have opened Y. M. C. A. buildings between 1920 and 1925 have an average investment in such plants of $320,000 each as against Kingston's investment of $129,400. Their average annual operating budget being $44,360 as against Kingston's $31,100.

To give Kingston boys completely modern "Y" service will require a general remodeling and enlargement of the building. This, however, was not considered by the board to be immediately feasible, the most that seemed to be practicable being the repairing of building and equipment and the adequate financing of the work, making sure that it shall be entirely free of debt by the end of this fiscal year—a condition never yet enjoyed by the local "Y."

In setting the date for the campaign the directors gave way to the Salvation Army who are to make their annual financial appeal the week of September 20.

Tarl Baer, secretary of the financial service bureau of the National Council of Young Men's Christian Associations, was present at the Tuesday evening directors' meeting and will assist local leaders in the organization of their campaign. Mr. Baer is also collaborating with the men of Newburgh, who are arranging for a campaign for a minimum of $125,000 with which to completely modernize their "Y" plant and finance the work for a period of two years.

Player Piano at T. B. Hospital

Instrument is Gift of Mrs. Herman A. Kelley of St. Remy—Music Rolls Suggested as Gifts by Others Desiring to Help Entertain Patients.

The patients at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital were made more than happy on Tuesday, September 8, with a gift of a new player piano from Mrs. Herman A. Kelley of St. Remy. Accompanying the piano was twenty-four rolls of bright cheery, inspiring music. As many of the patients will be able to play this instrument for the pleasure of all, in addition to its being an excellent instrument for accompaniment and solos for entertainment programs, the value of this gift to these shut-ins can easily be understood. The piano that was at the hospital was taken by E. Winter's Sons, through whom the piano was purchased, to the Nurses' Home where it will give very real pleasure.

Charles A. Winter of E. Winter's Sons has asked The Freeman to state that if there are people in town who have used, but perfectly good pianos that they would like to contribute to the Hospital to be used in the new piano, they may bring them to the Winter store on Wall street and the Winters will, free of charge, deliver them to the Hospital and take pleasure in so doing.

Burglars Make Get Away When Proprietor Makes Timely Arrival—Number of Car Occupied by Four Suspicious Men Secured.

An attempt to burglarize the S. Weisberg store, 271 Fair street, Tuesday evening, was luckily frustrated by the timely arrival of Mr. Weisberg at the store about 8 o'clock. Hearing a noise over a transom on a side door in the hallway leading to the street, as he and Max Perlman entered and thinking someone was attempting to play a joke on him, Mr. Weisberg called out, "What are you doing there?"

Then he heard footsteps going through the hallway leading to Fair street and on going into the hall from the store through the side door where he had heard the noise, he discovered that an attempt had been made to force open a door at the end of the hall leading to the work shop. He found the catch to the lock had been pried off but being unable to force open the door the burglars had taken a step ladder which was in the hall, and started to pry open the transom over the side hall door with a jimmy and had broken some of the glass and opened the transom.

While the burglars were busy Mr. Weisberg and Mr. Perlman entered the store and hearing the noise Mr. Weisberg had asked what the attempting burglars were up to? They becoming frightened ran away. Had the burglars been successful they no doubt would have carried away considerable furs and valuable ladies' gowns and other women's wear. As to money, Mr. Weisberg says they would not have found any as there was none in the store at that time.

Mack Truck Service Station

The Haines Motor Truck Co., Inc., has completed their Mack Truck Service Station at 25 South Manor avenue and are now equipped to handle truck and bus work of any kind. The company has the distribution of Mack trucks and busses for Ulster County.

Willis H. Haines, who has charge of the new service station, has been a resident of Kingston for the past two years, coming here from Catekill where he was connected with his father and brother who also handle the Mack Truck agency in Greensburg.

The new service station has a complete stock of Mack parts together with Mack mechanics who come here with a most complete knowledge along the lines of truck service. The Mack Company manufactures three types of busses; city, parlor car and sedan types, and seven sizes of trucks from 1½ to 7½ tons capacity. In the year 1920, Mack Brothers produced the first bus in their shop in Brooklyn, hence the slogan "The first bus was a Mack and the first Mack was a bus."

Since that time their organization has grown steadily and conservatively up to the present time when they are now leaders in their field. During the last year the Mack Truck Company has received a great commendation and ever since their number has been ever increasing. These trucks are found in almost every field of commerce, road construction work, contracting, lumber, traveling stores, heavy work, freight transportation, moving vans and in some instances have gone so far as to take the place of the horse in brick yards.

On another page of The Freeman will be found the advertisement of the new concern. They are ready to solve transportation needs and can furnish with either new or second-hand trucks.

"Air Tight" Case Against Mitchell

Is Belief of War Department Officials Who Are Seeking First Hand Confession of Statement Made by Aviator—Within Two Weeks Military Trial Will Begin.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Sept. 9.—The ponderous machinery of war department retribution today began to grind out the military future of Colonel William Mitchell, one time assistant chief of the army air service, who faces a court martial for attacking his superiors following the Shenandoah tragedy.

Moving with unexpected rapidity, the formal investigation was ordered and well under way on the first business day following Mitchell's attack, with indications that within two weeks the military trial may begin.

Probable Make-up of Court.

The military court which tries Colonel Mitchell probably will be composed entirely of officers of other branches of the service, it was pointed out at the war department today.

Major General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the air service, and Brig. General James E. Fox, who succeeded Mitchell as assistant chief, are the only two officers in the air service who rank above Mitchell. For this reason his "peers" will have to be selected from among infantrymen, artillerymen and other branches which Mitchell has derided in his efforts to advance the interests of aeronautics.

Determined to make an example of Mitchell for the "good of the service," the department has ordered Colonel George A. Nugent, of the inspector general's office, to investigate not only Mitchell's Shenandoah statement but also his recent utterances over a period of several months.

With Colonel Nugent speeding toward San Antonio to secure what is expected to be a first hand confession of the fact that Mitchell made the Shenandoah statement, war department officials today frankly declared they thought they had an "air tight" case against the aviator.

Consider His Entire Record.

he expected to be under military arrest within a few days

The probe of Colonel Mitchell, however, was undertaken. It was learned with a view to enabling a military court to determine proper punishment after considering the aviator's entire record.

Because military law, as interpreted by high officials here, is so explicit in dealing with cases similar to that of Mitchell, the chances of an acquittal at the trial were generally believed to be slight.

Prospects that Mitchell would be placed under arrest when the military court began its sessions were generally discounted as were also the possibilities that he might be sentenced to a term in military prison.

Prospect of Punishment.

Because of the largely political nature of the controversy, which led in the army by Mitchell, has centered about aviation since the war, it was generally believed the worst punishment he would receive would be a request for his resignation from the army.

Mitchell's prominence and the undoubtedly powerful congressional backing which he has had have inclined his superiors to adopt extreme caution in disciplinary action. The extreme hesitancy with which the war department has treated Mitchell in the past has led many observers to believe that the actual machinery of calling the court martial may not be set in motion by the war department.

Major General Ernest Hindle, commander of the Eighth Corps Area, Mitchell's immediate superior, statement was issued. He refused to make any comment.

General Hindle, made every inquiry with one statement.

The matter is being handled in Washington.

SICK RHINOCEROS

"I feel so sick, I feel so sick," said the Two-Horned Rhinoceros in the zoo.

"What is the matter with you?" asked the other Rhinoceros next door.

"I feel so sick, oh, I feel so sick," repeated the Two-Horned Rhinoceros.

"How do you feel sick?"

"Where do you feel sick?"

"Why do you feel sick?"

"Tell us about it," the other Rhinoceros said.

"Oh, neighbor, and kind Rhinoceros friend," said the Two-Horned Rhinoceros, "when a creature is sick he can't answer questions."

"He doesn't know why he feels sick. He doesn't know much about anything but except that he hurts and is sick all over, and feels as though he couldn't do anything at all."

"Oh, it's horrid to be sick!"

"Poor Two-Horned Rhinoceros," said the other Rhinoceros.

Then the Two-Horned Rhinoceros began to cough, oh, such a cough.

It seemed as though he could not get his breath, he was coughing so hard. The keeper heard him cough and came hurrying to him.

"You poor Rhinoceros," said the keeper, "you have whooping cough!"

"Those terrible Whooping Cough Wretches have come to visit you now, just as they visited those splendid boys John and his baby brother earlier this season."

"It was dreadful when they visited those two nice boys."

"I heard about it."

"And those mean wretches now have come to bother my poor Two-Horned Rhinoceros."

Then, without asking any questions, or fussing with him, the keeper at once gave the Two-Horned Rhinoceros

"You Poor Rhinoceros," said the Keeper.

some medicine which would help him as much as possible.

Night after night and day after day the Rhinoceros coughed, and every minute which could be spared the keeper was with him looking after him and seeing that he was made as comfortable as he could be made when the Whooping Cough Wretches were visiting him.

There they were, quite uninvited, and yet staying around in a mean way that they have.

They don't care whether they are invited or not.

Peter Gnome was perfectly furious about it. He argued with the Whooping Cough Wretches.

"How mean of you to come and bother a nice animal such as the Two-Horned Rhinoceros," he said.

"Can't you stop these mean ways of yours?"

But the Whooping Cough Wretches did not care. They were so mean they liked to be mean.

How they did act, and how sad was the keeper, and Peter Gnome, and the Two-Horned Rhinoceros.

"Keeper," the Two-Horned Rhinoceros would try to say between coughs, "make me well."

"Please make me well, keeper."

"And the keeper would say:

"I will make you well, if my medicine and good care can do so, Rhinoceros."

When the keeper spoke to the Two-Horned Rhinoceros the Rhinoceros seemed to feel more encouraged and more cheerful.

It had been that very way with John and his baby brother. They had felt so much better when their mother or their daddy or their lovely, young grandmother had talked to them and played with them.

After a wretched time of suffering for the Rhinoceros he was made all well, and oh, how he did enjoy being well again!

Never were two visitors less wanted. Never was any one more delighted to see them go than were the Two-Horned Rhinoceros, the keeper and Peter Gnome.

The Two-Horned Rhinoceros enjoyed being well more than he ever had in his life before, for he had known what it was to be ill and the great, great difference between it and being well was truly remarkable.

Seeing the moving scene chairs about in readiness for the assembly in Sunday school, a little four-year-old tot proceeded to be helpful by doing the same. Since she was quite noisy, I said: "Ah, don't make so much noise," whereupon she came close to me and asked with the most charming innocence: "What's the matter, is the baby sleeping?"

The War Spirit of the Colonies.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

THE FIRST CONTINENTAL CONGRESS HAD THE RESULT OF UNITING THE VARIOUS COLONIES FOR CONCERTED ACTION, AND A WAVE OF PATRIOTIC FEELING SWEEPED THE LAND.

MANY WHO HAD BEEN OPPOSED TO SEPARATING FROM ENGLAND NOW CHANGED THEIR VIEWS AND URGED COMPLETE INDEPENDENCE.

MEANWHILE PITT AND BURKE, FRIENDS OF THE COLONIES, URGED THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT TO ADOPT CONCILIATORY MEASURES TOWARD THE AMERICANS.

LORD NORTH, THEN PRIME MINISTER, OFFERED TO EXEMPT ANY COLONY THAT WOULD RAISE ITS QUOTA BUT THIS PLAN WAS A FAILURE.

ON FEBRUARY 26, 1775, GENERAL GAGE SENT A FORCE OF REDCOATS TO SEIZE SOME CANNON WHICH HE HEARD THE PROVINCIALS HAD STORED AT SALEM. BLOCKED BY MINUTE MEN UNDER COLONEL PICKERING, THE BRITISH RETIRED WITHOUT BLOODSHED.

IN MARCH, 1775, PATRICK HENRY ROUSED THE VIRGINIA BURGESSSES TO A HIGH PITCH OF PATRIOTIC ENTHUSIASM BY A FIERY SPEECH IN WHICH HE DECLARED THE HOUR HAD STRUCK FOR THE COLONISTS TO RALLY AND FIGHT FOR FREEDOM. HIS WORDS "LIBERTY OR DEATH" BECAME THE SLOGAN OF THE VIRGINIA RIFLEMEN.

SANDWICH FILLINGS

Sandwich filling is always in season. It is a good plan to keep a list of good combinations. One may not always follow them, but they will be suggestive and helpful.

Chop fine two large sardines, one cupful of cold boiled ham and one cupful of cucumber pickles. Make a paste by adding a tablespoonful of mayonnaise. Spread on thinly sliced buttered white bread.

Take a plate of finely chopped chicken, turkey or game, one-half cupful of ground almonds blanched, mix with a cream of mayonnaise dressing. Spread on buttered brown bread.

Spoon the desired quantity of olives, mix with mayonnaise and spread on slices of buttered bread.

Chop equal quantities of veal and tongue or chicken, moisten with stock from the meat, season well with salt, paprika and scraped onion and a grating of nutmeg. Spread on buttered graham bread.

Neufchatel cheese softened with a little cream, adding nuts, makes a delicious filling. Use one-half the quantity of pecans, a few chopped olives and spread on buttered brown bread.

To one cupful of ground ham add two cupfuls of chicken, both fine, add a little green pepper finely chopped and mix with mayonnaise. Spread on buttered graham bread.

Soften a little cream cheese with cream and spread on slices of buttered white bread. Cover the cheese with bits of chopped preserved ginger and candied peel.

Crisp lettuce leaves dipped in French dressing and served at once are most tasty.

Chop three hard cooked eggs, season with onion juice and softened butter, spread on buttered bread.

Chop equal parts of pecans and celery and mix with mayonnaise which has been seasoned with grated lemon peel. Spread on this slices of white bread.

Brooklyn Team At Fair Grounds

The early arrivals at the Fair Grounds this afternoon indicated that a record crowd would be in attendance at the game between the Colonials and the Brooklyn Nationals, scheduled for 4 o'clock. The gates opened at 2 o'clock with a large number of patrons seeking admittance.

With the Brooklyn team today were five pitchers, Hubbell, Brown, Petty, Erhardt and Cantrell. Before game time no mention was made of the selection of pitcher for the big leaguers. Other members of the club present with the team included Gock, Fournier, Tierney, Johnston and Brown.

The regular line-up of the Colonials was to take the field with the exception of Tubby Raskin, who should help the locals greatly. The pitcher for the Colonials was not announced. Kinney, Smith and Russell are available.

This is the second appearance of the Brooklyn Nationals this season at the Fair Grounds, the first contest resulting in a very strong and interesting match.

Fair weather forecast that by game time a good crowd would turn out for the much talked of game.

O'Doul Keeps Good Hours

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Los Angeles, Sept. 9.—Baseball going at night!

That's the innovation introduced by the west by Ed Holly, scout of the New York Yankees.

And it put Holly's O. K. on Frank "Lefty" O'Doul, former big leaguer, now with the Salt Lake City Club of the Pacific Coast League.

O'Doul, outfielder, has been hitting the ball at better than the .400 mark; but what interested Holly was O'Doul's night life.

Keeps Good Hours. He followed the Salt Lake club for four weeks and finally decided the slugger's day ended promptly at 6 o'clock, which found him safe at home nightly.

O'Doul was married a year ago, and he hasn't been the same since. Twelve months' taming by Mrs. O'Doul convinced Holly that "Lefty" was ripe for another visit to the big circuit.

The Salt Lake Club is said to have advanced more than $50,000 for O'Doul, and the New York Giants, Cincinnati and Detroit are reported bidding for his services with the Yankees.

According to Holly, fewer Pacific coast stars than ever will go to the big leagues this year.

Among those whose chances are considered most bright for the upward trip are Willie Hunsfield, Portland outfielder; Jackie Warner, Vernon, third baseman; Hal Ryner, San Francisco short stop; Tony Lasser, Salt Lake infielder; Paul Waser, San Francisco outfielder; and Beck, Los Angeles second baseman.

Rhyme Looks Good. Holly was reported immensely impressed with Rhyme, the San Francisco infielder, although he finally yielded Lasser, of the Utah club, as being likely for a Yankee prospect because of Lasser's colorful play.

Rhyme, according to Holly, is a more finished player than Lasser, but he lacks the Italian's "zip" and dash.

O'Doul is one of the two or three outstanding stars in the Coast League. In addition to his hitting, he has attracted attention by sensational fielding. His games this season show that he has the ability to cover plenty of ground, and his arm has been "long" and accurate.

Midwest Tennis Tourney. By Telegram to The Freeman. Philadelphia, Sept. 9.—The foremost women tennis players in the United States will meet here this afternoon in the fourth round of play for the Middle States tennis championship.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan, Mrs. Molla B. Mallory, Miss Helen Jacobs, the young Pacific coast sensation and Miss Anne Townsend are among the survivors of yesterday's play. Miss Jacobs will play Mrs. Mallory today.

Line as a Purifier. Line added to waste from rubber, paper and other chemical plants, often prevents a pollution of streams.

Tagging Major League Bases

Just 27 batters faced Dazzy Vance in the first game of the Dodgers-Phillies double-header. One singled and died stealing. None walked. Vance won his beautiful one hit game, 1 to 0. Buzleigh Grimes batted home enough runs to turn back the Phillies again the second game, 4 to 3.

Babe Ruth batted .400 for the day and fell back into his home run habit in aiding the Yanks who won from the Red Sox, 5 to 4, and 7 to 4. Mark Koenig, recently of St. Paul, made a pleasing debut at second base for the Yanks.

Battling as though they were still in the pennant race, the Athletics broke their losing streak of twelve straight by defeating the Senators, 6 to 4.

The Cubs leaped on Emil Yde in the first inning and his effectiveness thereafter did not prevent the Pirates from losing, 3 to 2.

Jack Scott ran himself breathless after slapping a triple in the seventh inning of the second game and his pitching was pie for the Braves in the next frame. They won, 5 to 4, making honors even for the day.

The Giants won the first game, 2 to 2.

Bressler and Pinelli led an aggravated assault on Cardinal pitchers and the Reds won the deciding game of the series, 10 to 1.

The Indians celebrated their last appearance on the home lot by driving Robertson from the premises in the fourth and defeating the White Sox 4 to 2.

Fifteen Tigers' hits equal 11 runs, whereas 13 Brown bingles make but 1. The answer was two out of three for the Tigers.

Berlenbach Has The Confidence

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Sept. 9.—Shantery of Buffalo will have his to skip and sock his way back to popular favor and into a world at the same time, Paul Berlenbach of Astoria will have the opportunity to show him it can't be done, customers at the Yankee will have an interesting watch, this coming Friday.

The so-called wise money, Broadway today believed, to a tent of eight to five, that Berlenbach would retain his title of light and for weight champion, wrestled Mike McGigue a short from the back. On the other hand, Buffalo backers were reported he was confident that the handsome star had worked himself into a slapping Paul sily.

Neither gladiator looked so his last time out. Berlenbach told in New Jersey that he and Marullo were not fighting. If of course, has the odious of the smacking Dave Shade him to live down. Before it was the coming Corbett. Sin, though he has appeared once he has been just another as a Until he proves different, he it continue to be just another and

His intention to re-establish self is given serious tone courage in stepping in again's puncher like Berlenbach.

As has been remarked, Berlenbach is no "picture fighter." He at great amount of science, b punches with the serious conviction of a carver of epitaphs.

There were those along Broadway willing to lay even money, or at most even, that Berlenbach would win by a knockout as quickly as Shade did.

Brooklyn Team At Fair Grounds

The early arrivals at the Fair Grounds this afternoon indicated that a record crowd would be in attendance at the game between the Colonials and the Brooklyn National team, scheduled for 4 o'clock. The gates opened at 2 o'clock with a large number of patrons seeking admittance.

With the Brooklyn team today were five pitchers, Hubbell, Brown, Petty, Erhardt and Cantrell. Before game time no mention was made of the selection for pitcher for the big leaguers. Other members of the club present with the team included Stock, Fournier, Tierney, Johnston and Brown.

The regular line-up of the Colonials was to take the field with the exception of Tubby Raskin, who should help the locals greatly. The pitcher for the Colonials was not announced. Kinney, Smith and Russell are available.

This is the second appearance of the Brooklyn Nationals this season at the Fair Grounds, the first contest resulting in a very strong and interesting match.

Fair weather forecast that by game time a good crowd would turn out for the much talked of game.

O'Doul Keeps Good Hours

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Los Angeles, Sept. 9.—Baseball going at night!

That's the innovation introduced in the west by Ed Holly, scout of the New York Yankees.

And it put Holly's O. K. on Frank "Lefty" O'Doul, former big leaguer, now with the Salt Lake City Club, of the Pacific Coast League. O'Doul, outfielder, has been hitting the ball at better than the 400 mark; but what interested Holly was O'Doul's night life.

Keeps Good Hours.
He followed the Salt Lake club for four weeks and finally decided the slugging outfielder had ended promptly at 8 o'clock, which found him safe at home nightly.

O'Doul was married a year ago, and he hasn't been the same since. Twelve months' taming by Mrs. O'Doul convinced Holly that "Lefty" was ripe for another visit to the big circuit.

The Salt Lake Club is said to have demanded more than $50,000 for O'Doul, and the New York Giants, Cincinnati and Detroit are reported bidding for his services with the Yankees.

According to Holly, fewer Pacific coast stars than ever will go to the major leagues this year.

Among those whose chances are considered most bright for the upward trip are Willie Humfield, Portland outfielder; Jackie Warner, Vernon, third baseman; Hal Rhyme, San Francisco short stop; Tony Lazzere, Salt Lake infielder; Paul Wanser, San Francisco outfielder; and Beck, Los Angeles second baseman.

Rhyme Looks Good.
Holly was reported immensely impressed with Rhyme, the San Francisco infielder, although he finally picked Lazzere, of the Utah club, as more likely to be a Yankee prospect because of Lazzere's colorful playing.

Rhyme, according to Holly, is a more finished player than Lazzere, but he lacks the Italian's "zip" and dash.

O'Doul is one of the two or three outstanding stars in the Coast League. In addition to his hitting, he has attracted attention by sensational fielding. His games this season show that he has the ability to cover plenty of ground, and his arm has been "long" and accurate.

Tagging Major League Bases

Just 27 batters faced Danz Vance in the first game of the Dodgers-Phillies double-header. One singled and died stealing. None walked. Vance won his beautiful one hit game, 1 to 0. Buzleigh Grimes batted home enough runs to turn back the Phillies again the second game, 4 to 3.

Babe Ruth batted .400 for the day and fell back into his home run habit in aiding the Yanks win two from the Red Sox, 5 to 4, and 7 to 4. Mark Koenig, recently of St. Paul, made a pleasing debut at second base for the Yanks.

Battling as though they were still in the pennant race, the Athletics broke their losing streak of twelve straight by defeating the Senators, 6 to 4.

The Cubs leaped on Emil Yde in the first inning and his effectiveness thereafter did not prevent the Pirates from losing, 3 to 2.

Jack Scott ran himself breathless after slapping a triple in the seventh inning of the second game and his pitching was pie for the Braves in the next frame. They won, 5 to 4, making honors even for the day. The Giants won the first game, 3 to 2.

Breaser and Pinelli led an aggravated assault on Cardinal pitchers and the Reds won the deciding game of the series, 19 to 1.

The Indians celebrated their last appearance on the home lot by driving Robertson from the premises in the fourth and defeating the White Sox 4 to 2.

Fifteen Tigers' hits equal 11 runs, whereas 13 Brown bingles make but 1. The answer was two out of three for the Tigers.

PROFESSIONAL BALL MAKES BUM OF STAR

College Athlete Not Able to Stand Easy Life of Playing Game.

Professional baseball usually "makes a bum" out of the star college player. Such is the opinion of L. W. St. John, director of athletics at Ohio State university, occasional big league scout, producer of several Western Conference championship baseball teams in the last decade, and an umpire in his younger days.

The varsity athlete who has completed his regular course and who looks to be the strenuous call of seemingly easy money in the diamond, in Director St. John's opinion, is making a grave mistake.

"Unless he is an exception at fellow," he declared, "professional baseball will make a bum out of him."

When a man spends four years getting a college education, he insists, he can't afford "to junk that for professional baseball." The college star who goes in for professional baseball more likely than not, he believes, "is throwing an intensive college education into the junk heap."

"Unless the college athlete is one of the few exceptions, like George Sisler or Eddie Collins," he said, "he takes a chance of wrecking himself by unfitting himself for any worthwhile, serious business for the rest of his natural days because of the easy life and habits that are a part of professional baseball."

"For the most part, the life of a professional baseball player is that of a loafer. He gets into his uniform around 1:30 in the afternoon, is through at 5 o'clock and has the remainder of the day to himself."

"So few professional players have anything at the end of ten years in the game. The college trained man who has yielded to professional baseball at the end of that time as a rule hasn't done much for himself or his community."

"He hasn't taken any foothold, as a rule, and as likely as not just drifts when he quits baseball or is forced into retirement."

"As a matter of dollars and cents, the college trained athlete can't afford to go into baseball unless he is one of the very few."

Larry Snyder Will Help Track Coach.
Larry Snyder, 1924 captain of the Ohio State varsity track team, having graduated, will be assistant varsity coach this fall.

He was one of the stars of the track squad during the last three years, scoring 300 points in various meets. He received an injury to his knee during service in the war, and after entering college it was thought at first he would never be able to compete again. However, after an operation he regained use of the limb.

His best varsity marks are: High jump, 6 feet 1 1/2 inches; broad jump, 23 feet 3 inches; high hurdles, 14 6-10 seconds; low hurdles, 24 2-5 seconds; hop, step and jump, 45 feet 7 inches; quarter-mile, 50 2-5 seconds.

Sale of Ernest ("Tex") Jeanes, center fielder, to the Washington American league club was announced by officials of the Birmingham club.

Kenneth W. Urban, former short-stop with the Terre Haute (Ind.) club of the Three league, joined the Rochester Internationals at Buffalo.

Pittsfield has obtained Pitcher Egbert Johnson from Albany in a deal whereby Colonel Snover, southpaw pitcher, was turned over to the latter club.

Pitcher Arthur (Bud) Pole has been released to Grissfield of the Eastern Shore league by Williamsport. He was obtained by Williamsport from Shamokin.

Announcement was made of the sale of Joe Munson, outfielder of the Harrisburg team, New York-Pennsylvania league, to the Chicago National League club.

ONE-BASE HITS

Charlie Grimm, first base guardian for the Chicago Cubs, is one of the cleverest players in the National league, not only on the bases and at bat, but in fielding his position.

ONE-BASE HITS

By JACK SIMPSON.
There is some question whether a baserunner can advance a base when a fielder is juggling a fly ball. Many times the runner will wait until the fielder has finally grasped the ball, before leaving his base to advance on the catch.

Just the moment the ball strikes the fielder's glove, the baserunner can start running whether the fielder juggles, catches or misses the fly. This rule was made to prevent a smart fielder from juggling a fly and at the same time running toward the infield to make the throw to the base or plate shorter. If the baserunner had to wait until the fly was finally caught he would have no chance to advance, because the outfielder could have run almost to the infield.

One of the most inhuman rules in baseball is that of keeping a ball in play when a player was hurt fielding it. A fly is hit to right center and both are knocked out. The ball continues on its way and the batter can make a home run if possible. This rule was made to protect a baserunner from an outfielder feigning injury if he missed the ball.

A baserunner and a baseman collide and the runner is rendered unconscious, falling over first base without touching it. The first baseman regains the ball and tags first base. The only decision the umpire can make is to call the runner out regardless of the fact that he is helpless on the ground.

Plattekill WCTU Gains Members

(Official Report.)

The visit of State Organizer Mrs. Frances A. DeGraff of Amsterdam, N. Y., to Plattekill W. C. T. U., September 3 and 4, resulted in a gain of 44 new members to the organization in this local union, going over the top five more than double those previously on our records. This was accomplished by team work of the secretary, Eleanor R. Brown, and the local president, Miss Brown using her car to take Mrs. DeGraff for calls during her stay and the latter by entertaining her and having meals ready for both when they came in. For these recruits we thank God and take courage.

The next meeting of Plattekill Union will be at Eleanor R. Brown's, Saturday, October 3, at 2 p. m., standard time, and we hope to see many of our new members there to have a cordial reception, also they will find it interesting and very helpful to attend our county convention at New Hurley Church, September 16, morning, afternoon and evening, all taking box lunch for noon hour. New Hurley Union will furnish drink and entertain for supper all delegates and visitors who wish to stay over for evening address. This is a rare opportunity for us, as New Hurley is so near Plattekill and members and non-members should avail themselves of it.

The following persons gave their names as new members: Mrs. Emily Tremper, Mrs. A. Gerlach, Mrs. Clarence Birdsall, Mrs. Christine Nichols, Mrs. W. R. ## Apparition Puts People in Panic

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Carnia, Italy, Sept. 9.—The people of Carnia and the other villages in the neighborhood have been for the last five days in a state of great fear on account of the apparition of a woman dressed in white, which has been seen every day at about three kilometers from the village on the public road.

Some little boys who were playing in that neighborhood noticed the strange appearance, which seemed to ascend and descend, and ran to give the news which brought a large crowd, all of whom were able to see the vision.

Some of them tried to approach it, but while it was visible to the others, it vanished from the sight of the nearest. Every day the population, among whom have been several priests, have gone to see the phantom.

One day the crowd stood as usual watching when two priests went in advance of the others. Suddenly the spectators saw the apparition walking between two men, and were greatly impressed. Up to now there seems to be no explanation of the phenomenon, and curious and excited people continue to come from all the neighborhood.

Silhouettes That Resemble Inverted Flowers Impress Reviewers of French Styles.

Whether one is an exponent of American fashions for American women or not, one must in truth and justice admit that at the moment interest centers on what Paris created, this being especially so, since the imports have begun to reach our shores.

Here is the impression of an eye witness at the time of their Paris presentation, and those of us who have seen the models without the added advantage of their exquisite presentation by the mannequins for whom they were made, feel confident too that the flare's the thing.

A Graceful Dinner Gown Making Use of a Huge Rose Decoration and Fringe Scarf Draperies.

In the struggle of the flare to gain ascendancy over the straight silhouette, the final moment of triumph has arrived. The tables are turned, and instead of a prevailing straight line with an occasional flare, it is the widened effect at hem, with its graceful swinging or rapping movement which steps into the unchallenged place as leading silhouette. It is the one most generally represented.

In reviewing the almost endless parade of models, grouped under various well-known names which makes up the French opening fashions for fall, 1925, to speak of the flare is only to begin the story. The infinite variety of methods in introducing it, the intricate detail of cut in developing it, form one of the most interesting points of design and workmanship in the couture openings of the current season.

In its many phases, the silhouette frequently achieves the effect of an inverted flower or lily or morning glory form.

"HEY ARE WEARING"—Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Charming Miss Betty Teller recently wore quite the prettiest crepe de chine jumper frock seen in Newport, adorned with rows of fagoting and narrow stripes of crepe. Her huge scarlet crin had a bunch of cherries falling from the center of the crown.

A very fine cafe au lait batiste, with all-around cut work, was a one-piece affair with fine shirrings at each hip. With this, a pretty brunette wore a large black velvet hat banded with black ribbon topped with two tones of rose.

Crepe de chine in Lavie green formed a two-piece gown in which Mrs. William Woodward appeared. The blouse was long, and split up each side, with pipings of black, and a wide sash of green tied at the right side.

Gowns just alike were worn by Mrs. Ordes Hammond's two daughters. These were one-piece frocks of white crepe de chine, embroidered in front, back and sleeves with a small leaf design in red and green. Large red Bangkok hats had bouquets of red flowers at the right front.

Orchid crepe de chine was chosen by young Countess Alexandrine Beroligera. A straight model, with slightly molded bodice, had two gradual circular bouquets arranged on the skirt, one at the knee and the other just below, both brought up at the right.

Mrs. P. S. Reynolds Mitt was wearing a printed white crepe de chine gown, with dusters of deep blue, and flowers in yellow, orange and green. Her crown Lavie had a high, soft crown of blue tulle, with pink roses at the right. Pale yellow suede opera pumps contrasted with white stockings, and a garnet of tangerine tulle faced with shell pink, formed a festive detail.

Mrs. Dolan's one-piece canary crepe frock was worn with a crown Bangkok which had tangerine velvet ribbon about the crown.

Another well-gowned woman was Mrs. Gibson Palmer, in an ensemble of white georgette. The gown was lavishly adorned with drapery work, and the best coat was plain, except for three deep tucks, overlapping at the edge. A luscious crin hat had trimmings of wide satin ribbon matching.

PARENTS OF SCHOOL CHILDREN GIVEN SOME HEALTH HINTS.
The Gorgas Memorial Institute of Chicago gives some good advice to parents of children returning to school in the following bulletin prepared by Dr. Allan Craig:

Our leading citizens, 25,000,000 of them, are returning to school this week.

Unless each one is physically fit, he is going to be handicapped in his advancement in learning during the coming nine months.

Do you actually know if your children are in good shape for this year's work? Do you know whether they have any decayed teeth, infected tonsils, adenoids or are underweight? Children with any of these things are seriously handicapped. This is no theoretic observation but a proven fact, well known to the Gorgas Memorial Institute.

Only periodic health examinations will disclose what is wrong with the body machine; and these health audits are a profitable investment for any home. Disease will be forestalled and the child will make greater progress because there is nothing wrong with his body to hold him back. Make sure now that your child is fit. Correct any defect when correction is easiest.

There are physical examinations, however, which are useless. A careless examination is worse than none at all because it creates false impressions of safety. The child should be stripped and gone over carefully from head to foot—no careless examination through the clothing. Make the doctor the health adviser in the family. Just as we make our lawyer our legal adviser.

Every home should have a set of weighing scales in the bath room. The weight is a valuable indication of progress in growing children. Stationary weight in a child is equal to a steady loss in an adult. If your boy or girl is not gaining weight, there is something wrong and it is up to your doctor to find out what it is.

Good, nourishing food at regular hours, slowly eaten and not crunched in uncommunicated lumps, will help our boys and girls towards steady growth and development. A good old saying reads thus: "Take good health and economy to dine with you every day."

"Eat more bread and butter and drink more milk."

This would be a good motto for every home and especially those where there are growing children. One might add a word as to the desirability of plenty of fresh vegetables and fruit.

Periodic visits to the dentist are a necessity. Why should we allow the children's second teeth to come in out of place and in an unsightly manner when, by a little care at the right time, this can be avoided? Everyone is desirous of having good teeth, evenly placed, and our children, when they grow up, are going to blame us for deficiencies which are due to our neglect. It is remarkable how rapidly small cavities develop in children's teeth, particularly if they are somewhat careless, as most children are, in the use of the tooth brush. Few of us clean our teeth thoroughly. We are so often deceived by the fact that we are using a pleasant paste or a soothing mouth wash. It is the scrubbing with the brush that does the work. Then too there is always a tendency to neglect certain groups of teeth, such as the upper back molars.

Journey From Coast to Coast

See First of Long Distance Touring Seen by President Henry of the
A. A. A.—Henry Crossed Continent
in Four Days and Eighteen Hours, Maintaining Schedule and Driving Night and Day.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, D. C., Sept. 9.—A new era of long distance motor touring was predicted by Thomas
P. Henry, President of the American Automobile Association, as the result of his personal experiences in traveling the continent the other day.

President Henry and Ernest N.
Smith, General Manager of the National motoring body, left the Zero milestone at the White House at 11
a. m. on the morning of Sunday,
August 30, and arrived at Oakland,
California, early on Friday morning,
September 4, in exactly four days
and eighteen hours of elapsed time.
"The trip," commented President Henry, "demonstrated clearly to me that the journey from coast to coast can be made comfortably in about a week's time by the average business man, if reasonable care is taken in preparation and the trip is carefully planned. The modern car and modern highways have brought the East and West closer together than the millions of automobile owners imagine. If motorists realized the possibility of long distance touring they would get much more use and pleasure out of their investment."

Henry and Smith made this unique trip in a stock Cadillac sedan, the only unusual feature of which was the Pullman bed which permitted the drivers to carry on for more than twenty out of every twenty-four hours.

"The condition of the Lincoln Highway and the Victory Highway," said Mr. Henry, "was such that we could easily have made better time except for the fact that we were out not to break records but to show the ease with which the continent can be spanned by the average business man and car owner under normal conditions."

"There is no reason why a car should stop running at night any more than a railroad train. To maintain day and night motoring schedules is one way of relieving the congestion from which the country is suffering. With better roads and better marked roads night driving must be regarded as an inevitable development."

"We had practically all our meals in the car and we wrote business letters while traveling at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour. Our only mechanical trouble was one tire puncture and delay caused was only four minutes."

Commenting on the trip Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, said
a part:

"It will bring home to thousands of American motorists in a unique way the fact that both coasts are in really linked close together by a great national system of highways.
This trip is a challenge to all Americans who ought to know their western country in the intimate way that results from a motor tour."

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine made in the success of the motor run another argument for greater concentration by the country on the completion of the system of transcontinental highways. He said:

"The trip is a demonstration of the advance of highway transportation."

"While splendid progress has been made in the past, there is still a very large amount of work to

Natural Gas Supply in France

The first natural gas well ever discovered in France has recently been brought in and put to work, almost exactly one hundred years after the first use of natural gas in the United States. The new French field, at Vaux-en-Bugey, is delivering more than seven million cubic feet of gas a day, which is being used to serve nearby towns and, when shipped in tanks under pressure, a large number of farms.

It was a famous Frenchman, General Lafayette, who occasioned the first use of natural gas in this country. In 1826, Lafayette passed through Fredonia, New York, on his way to the seaboard. Springs from which natural gas rose at Fredonia had long been known, but the gas had never been used. To honor Lafayette, the citizens of Fredonia sank a pipe into a gas pocket beside a spring, carried the gas to the local tavern, and celebrated his arrival with the first natural gas illumination ever made.

The discovery of natural gas in France comes at a time when the vast supplies of the United States are decreasing, and the manufactured gas companies have already begun to supply their fuel to many communities which for generations have depended upon the natural product.
In New York state the production of natural gas has dropped from eighteen billion cubic feet in 1917, the high record year, to only nine billion cubic feet in 1924, a decrease of fifty per cent. This decrease, which has occurred in the face of an increasing demand for gas for domestic and industrial uses, has been more than offset by the manufactured gas industry, whose output in the state has risen from sixty-five billion cubic feet in 1917 to more than ninety billion cubic feet last year, a new record.

New York state now consumes one-sixth of all the manufactured gas produced in the country, and it is estimated that approximately two-thirds of all the food cooked in the state is prepared on gas stoves. The service is available to ninety per cent of the homes of the Empire State. In industry gas is used as the fuel in nearly a thousand different processes.

Family Settled

A lady artist was giving a studio dinner with the usual Bohemian twist to it. Approaching a guest she asked in a kittenish manner: "What is the difference between imported caviar and hash?"

Taking this for a playful riddle the guest replied: "I don't know."
"Then you'd just as soon have hash," said the hostess, serving him with a large portion.

be accomplished. In my trip through the west this summer I was impressed with the thought that no matter how fine a system of roads the coast states may develop, they will still be dependent upon connection with the central and eastern sections of the country—upon highways which lead through long stretches of sparsely settled areas in which the federal government still holds title to a large percentage of the lands which these roads cross.
High mountain passes and desert stretches must be crossed with adequate highways before we shall have that tie between the different sections of our country that will lead to a greater unity of purpose and broader understanding which are in themselves worthy objectives of the federal aid highway system."

ALL OTHER NEW PRICES PALE IN COMPARISON WITH THESE

The more closely you examine recent price reductions, the more you will be convinced that the Hupmobile Eight, at its new prices, is far and away
the biggest thing in the market.

The facts of the case will drive you to this conclusion—the outstanding fact being that in the Hupmobile Eight the world is getting the utmost that motor manufacturing can give,
to wit:—

An absolutely flawless eight performance.

At its original prices, the Hupmobile Eight was the greatest value in America because of this fact—because this superlative eight performance was to be had at a figure from one-half to one-third lower than anything comparable with it.

Now, at these new prices, considering what you get in riding and driving—and considering furthermore that you get economies which no eight has ever before delivered—all other new prices pale into insignificance in comparison with the Hupmobile Eight new prices.

There's no use in wasting words
—a half hour's demonstration of the Hupmobile Eight along with anything that aspires to approximate it will prove that Hupmobile is telling the truth now, as it has always tried to tell the truth in its advertising.

Ancient Egyptian Bread

The ancient Egyptians carried the art of baking to high perfection, although the Greek historian remarks of them, "though they kneaded with their feet, but clay with their hands."
The bread of the majority of the people was made of barley, but white bread made from wheat was used by the rich. The form of the bread is revealed by ancient monuments. A common shape was a small, round loaf, something like the loaves of today. Other loaves were elongated rolls, and curiously enough were sprinkled on the top with seeds like the modern Vienna bread.

Coolidge Worked On His Vacation

Took Only Five Days for an Actual Vacation—Routine at Swampscott the Same as One Followed at Washington.

By Telegram to The Freeman, Swampscott, Mass., Sept. 9.—The vacation of President Coolidge has not been a vacation at all. It was merely a transference of his duties from Washington to Swampscott, Massachusetts. Here is the real story of how Calvin Coolidge spent the time when he was away from the nation's capital.

When the announcement was made that the president was going to take a vacation the general consensus of opinion was that he was entitled to one for he had day after day, from early morning until late at night, been at his desk at the White House, working steadily, planning so that the affairs of the nation might be conducted in such a manner as to bring the greatest benefit possible to the citizens of the land.

It is more than doubtful that Mr. Coolidge would have visited any other place than the humble home of his father in the Vermont hills had it not been for the fact that it was absolutely necessary that certain repairs be made to the White House. It certainly was in need of repairs, and it should further be repaired, for the historic home of our presidents is not in what the average householder would call perfect condition.

During the time that Calvin Coolidge has been away from Washington he had just exactly five days of real vacation; three of these he spent at his birthplace in Plymouth, Vermont. It is true that he was there for six days, but during that time he had a conference with Secretary Mellon and Senator Smoot of the Debt Funding Commission, and also received other government officials whose business was most pressing. The other forty-eight hours were used in visiting historic points in Massachusetts, and it is doubtful that in these five days of so-called vacation but that the president sat and thought much of the problems of the day. The time mentioned does not include, of course, the hurried trip that the President and Mrs. Coolidge made to his father's home in Vermont when Colonel Coolidge was operated upon.

When the president first transferred the executive offices from Washington to Swampscott much was written about the wonderful summer home—White Court—where the president was to spend the summer. Enterprising news photographers took pictures of it from every angle. Hardly a leaf on the trees or a blade of grass on the lawn was not "snapped," and the printed descriptions of White Court gave the impression that White Court was like something that came from a page of the "Arabian Nights." White Court is a pretty summer home, and from its porches may be obtained a view of the ocean, but it is not the palatial mansion that it has been described to be. There are far grander homes in hundreds and hundreds of cities and towns anywhere in the United States, and there are dozens and dozens of more portentous dwellings to be seen in every seaside resort, both on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. White Court is a comfortable, well furnished residence. That's all.

The president's day during the summer did not differ in any respect to those he spends in Washington. At White Court his "getting up" hour was six, and a few minutes later one might view him walking up and down the roadways or along the beach. His walk finished, breakfast about 7 or 7:15. After a good substantial meal he goes to the room on the first floor which has been fitted up as an office. In this room is a big flat-top desk. To the right of it stands the flag of our nation. In this room are filing cabinets and other office furniture. The mail that has arrived the night before is on his desk. The president sits down and attends to the extremely urgent matters that require his attention. These disposed of he turns to the questions of the next importance. Those that are in such a condition as to permit action are turned over to his confidential secretary for action, and so for the next two or three hours he works steadily but busily. By this time several callers have arrived. They have come from Washington or other places to confer with the president. These talks carry him up to one o'clock, the hour for his mid-day meal. Sometimes he and Mrs. Coolidge eat alone. At other times some of the callers sit at the family board.

The trip to Swampscott afforded

Mrs. Coolidge her desired opportunity to return to her position of family housekeeper. She administered with great pleasure to the personal comforts of Calvin Coolidge, her husband, with the same happiness as do all wives of the nation. After lunch other callers are received, and after they have departed the President turns to the afternoon mail that has arrived from Washington in a special pouch, and continues his work until the last meal of the day. After this meal another short walk and he again returns to his desk. This is the real true story of how Calvin Coolidge spent his so-called vacation.

When the President first arrived at White Court there were numerous invitations from society people asking that he attend this or that function. It is needless to say that these invitations were declined. The President had no time to fritter away. There were too many questions that had to be decided, and, in addition to that, Mr. Coolidge is of the opinion that the President of the United States should devote his time in serving the people rather than being the centerpiece of some social gathering.

The President's "vacation" may be best described by one word,—work.

FONTELLE DE N. SOMMERY.
Fontelle De N. Sommery was a lady whose parentage is unknown, as she was secretly entrusted to the care of a convent. She possessed great powers of mind, with inoffensive gaiety. Her society was much sought by philosophers and men of letters. She died about 1792, at an advanced age. She wrote, "Doctes sur les Opinions recues dans la Societe," and "L'Orellio," an Asiatic romance.

"THE SLAVE OF THE SLAVES."
The first missionary to work among the American negro slaves was Blessed Peter Claver, whose festival will be celebrated today. Claver was a Spanish Jesuit who early in the seventeenth century was ordained a priest and sent to Cartagena, (De Indias) then the great slave mart of the West Indies. Arriving there he consecrated himself to the salvation of the miserable blacks, laboring in this work for more than forty years. He called himself the "slave of the slaves," and was their teacher, nurse, apostle, physician and friend. He fed them, taught them, and nursed them when attacked by loathsome diseases. However weary he might be when news came of the arrival of a slave ship, he was the first to go down in the awful stench of the ships to greet them and try to comfort them after their long voyage in the frightful holds of the slave ships. It is said that before his death in 1654 he had baptized over 40,000 negro slaves.

LITHOGRAPHY.
The first successful example of the lithography art was produced 129 years ago today by Aloys Senefelder, a Bavarian, who produced a piece of music printed by this process. Senefelder was a composer, but he was too poor to bear the cost of having his works published, so began to experiment in the hope of discovering some cheap method by which he could do the printing himself. The lithographic process was suggested to him by his having made for his mother a memorandum of clothes to be sent to the washerwoman. He carelessly wrote this on a slab of stone, intending to copy it. As the stone lay before him he thought of trying the effect of applying printers' ink to the lines and thus make an impression.

This experiment led to others, and in 1796 Senefelder had produced a piece of music from lines drawn in slight relief on a slab of stone. The inventor obtained a patent for his process in several German states, and labored to extend it throughout Europe. Everywhere it met with favor, especially in France, and artists of distinction worked to perfect the lithographic art. It was introduced into America in 1821 when a lithographic plant was established in New York.

Census Figures Will Be Delayed

Mistake of 1,000 in Tabulating Figures For Albany Census Causes Bureau To Be More Careful Before Announcing Figures For Other Cities.

By Telegram to The Freeman, Albany, Sept. 9.—Because a mistake was made by the state census bureau in announcing Albany's population, the census figures for other cities in the state will be delayed for some time, it was indicated today at the census bureau.

Albany's population first was placed at 116,000 by the census bureau. City officials raised a howl, claiming the figures should be nearer 120,000. Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, secretary of state, who was in charge of the census, ordered the Albany figures rechecked. It was then discovered that a mistake of 1,000 had been made.

The population of virtually all cities has been tabulated by the census bureau, it was declared today, but no further announcements will be made until the figures are carefully gone over two or three times to avoid mistakes.

Syracuse officials were not satisfied with the census for that city, given by the state bureau as 182,000. They believed it to be nearer 200,000. Mr. Knapp had the figures rechecked, but she said her original figures were correct.

So certain are the Albany officials that a big mistake has been made by the census bureau that Mayor William S. Hackett has ordered the police to make their own census. This was started yesterday.

"There is no use in trying to hurry these reports," said Herbert S. Sisson, assistant director of the census. "We tried to hurry on the Albany figures and we made a mistake of 1,000. That is not going to happen again if we can help it."

"Suppose the census now being taken by the Albany police show the city's population at 125,000, what would happen?" Mr. Sisson was asked.

His answer was a shrug of his shoulders.

Close friends of Mrs. Knapp said today she was "disgusted" because the city officials of Albany and Syracuse had questioned her figures.

ON A WALKING TOUR BUT ACCEPT AUTO RIDES

The Misses Minerva Salzman and Sarah Pessin of the Naturalization Service Bureau in the Tribune building, New York city, left that city Tuesday morning to walk to Albany. They were fortunate in getting a "hitch" and arrived in Kingston at 7 o'clock that evening and spent the night at the Kingston Hotel. This morning they resumed their trip to Albany, stating that they expected to be fortunate enough to obtain a ride part of the way from some kindhearted automobilist.

SOCIETY SHOCKED; WEDDINGS ARE OFF

Two American Girls Are Not to Be Brides of Titled Foreigners.

New York.—The marriage plans of two American society girls and two blue-blooded foreigners, have gone awry.

Miss Emmeline Marion Grace, daughter of Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, is not to wed Sir Michael William Shelby Bruce, adventurous young Scottish baronet, because he is to marry an English girl.

Dispatches from London said that Sir Michael, a captain in the royal field artillery, and alleged descendant of Robert Bruce, hero king of Scotland, would marry the husband of Miss Doreen D. Lavel Greenwall, daughter of a British army colonel.

Engagement Ball Held.

Miss Grace's engagement was announced by her parents last December from their home in Bethlehem, Pa. It was celebrated by a ball at the Hotel Bethlehem. Mr. Grace's secretary from the steel magnate's summer home at Southampton, L. I., recently, said Miss Grace's engagement was broken several months ago and that this fact was known to her friends here and in London.

Disappointment came to Lieut. Ernesto Lardine Becci, first assistant secretary of the Italian ministry of the interior, when he arrived on the liner Providence to learn that his contemplated marriage to Miss Nancy Sayles of Pawtucket, R. I., has been postponed indefinitely.

Will Return to Italy.

A few hours later Lieutenant Becci intimated he would return to Italy without a bride. Miss Sayles is reputed to be the wealthiest girl in Rhode Island.

Her mother, Mrs. Frank A. Sayles, gave no reason for postponement of the marriage.

Lieutenant Becci is a Roman Catholic and Miss Sayles a Protestant.

Lieutenant Becci left $37,500 in jewelry, his gifts to the prospective bride, in the hands of custom officials. He didn't want, he said, to pay duty on something he might not need.

Use Coney Island Police as Nurses for Children

Albany, N. Y.—The latest method employed by mothers in disposing of their children so they may be free to enjoy the sights and pleasures of Coney Island has been revealed by the state commission of prisons. It is intentional abandonment in the vicinity of an obliging policeman with the certain knowledge that the child will be picked up and cared for during the day at the Coney Island police station.

The method is cited in a report made public on an inspection by the commission of the state, the Twenty-eighth precinct of New York city. The inspection was made July 4, and it was found that 76 children were brought into the station house on that day up to 9 p. m. A total of 130 "lost children" had been cared for at the station up to that date, most of them since early in May.

"It seems to be pretty well established," says the report, "that many women coming to Coney Island, bringing their children with them, purpose to abandon them knowing they will be taken up by the police and kept until after they have finished their day of pleasure, after which they call on the station and recover them. It is also quite certain that few children stray from their parents unless the parents are careless or are not much concerned as to their safety and welfare."

BULK OF U. S. EXPORTS SHIPPED TO 7 NATIONS

Purchased Two-thirds of Products
During 1924—Valued at $3,000,000,000.

Washington.—Seven countries—Great Britain, Canada, Germany, France, Japan, Cuba and Italy—purchased nearly two-thirds of American exports in 1924, nearly $3,000,000,000 worth, according to an analysis of world-trade by the foreign commerce department of the United States. These seven countries in recent years have invariably been found among the country's ten leading customers, with the single exception of Germany from 1915 through 1919. In 1924 thirty-five countries each purchased more than $10,000,000 worth of American merchandise—80 per cent of all shipped abroad—the eighty-odd markets in the rest of the world taking only 4 per cent of America's exports.

"Only six of the thirty-five leading markets—Canada, Japan, Sweden, Norway, Hongkong and Haiti—bought less from us in 1924 than in 1923," says the analysis. "The increases among the 29 others ranging to as high as six times the 1923 figures. Noteworthy among the increases in value among our best customers were the following:

"Great Britain, $89,314,000, or 11 per cent; Germany, $123,700,000, or 39 per cent; Italy, $15,509,000, or 12 per cent; Netherlands, $42,562,000, or 39 per cent; Mexico, $14,880,000, or 12 per cent; Belgium, $15,243,000, or 15 per cent; Spain, $9,301,000, or 15 per cent; Brazil, $10,823,000, or 43 per cent; Philippine Islands, $10,278,000, or 21 per cent; Russia, $35,000,000, or 53 per cent; British South Africa, $7,620,000, or 27 per cent; Colombia, $6,374,000, or 29 per cent; Panama, $4,596,000, or 21 per cent; Peru, $4,081,000, or 21 per cent; Uruguay, $3,145,000, or 21 per cent; Venezuela, $5,724,000, or 48 per cent; Greece, $4,822,000, or 41 per cent; Switzerland, $3,154,000, or 53 per cent; Guatemala, $2,508,000, or 40 per cent; Austria, $1,359,000, or 74 per cent; British East Africa, $1,108,000, or 78 per cent, and Czechoslovakia, $876,000, or 81 per cent. Declines were registered in our exports to Canada, $27,920,000, or 4 per cent; to Japan, $13,900,000, or 5 per cent; to Sweden, $187,000, or 0.9 per cent; to Norway, $4,373,000, or 16 per cent; to Hongkong, $134,000, or 0.8 per cent; to Haiti, $413,000, or 3 per cent; to Poland and Danzig, $7,530,000, or 62 per cent, and to Latvia, $4,159,000, or 78 per cent.

"Among our chief sources of supply—ten countries furnished us with two-thirds of our imports."

To Reorganize Reindeer Industry in Baffin Land

Seattle, Wash.—W. T. Lopp, chief of the Alaska division of the United States bureau of education for 51 years, left his home here for Baffin Land, the Canadian island between Greenland and North America, to reorganize the reindeer industry for the Hudson's Bay company.

Until this year Lopp was in charge of reindeer throughout Alaska. In the winter of 1896 a party, composed of Lieut. D. H. Jarvis, Lieut. E. B. Berthoff, Dr. S. J. Call and Lopp drove a small herd of reindeer 800 miles to Point Barrow, Alaska, from Cape Prince of Wales, on the east side of Bering strait, to relieve a whaling fleet frozen in and starving.

The first reindeer in Alaska were landed in 1892 at Teller, 50 miles from Cape Prince of Wales. Lapps were brought to Alaska to teach the Indians and Eskimos how to care for the animals. The raising of reindeer has become one of Alaska's largest industries.

The Hudson's Bay company placed a small number of reindeer on Baffin Land four years ago, at the suggestion of Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, and since then the herd has grown to 700.

The Danish government is negotiating with Lopp to introduce the raising of reindeer on Greenland.

Death in the Waters

The overflow of a river in consequence of excessive rainfall is the most familiar type of flood, but there are many others, says Nature Magazine. Low-lying coasts of the ocean are often inundated by so-called "tidal waves"—which have nothing to do with tides in the ordinary sense of the term.

Some of these waves are due to earthquakes, others to storms. In the Lisbon earthquake of November 1, 1755, 60,000 people were drowned by a wave eight feet high that advanced from the sea.

The most destructive storm waves have occurred along the coast of the Bay of Bengal. The one of October 7, 1931, is said to have risen 40 feet in the River Hugli, sweeping away 300,000 souls. The Calcutta cyclone of October 5, 1864, caused the drowning of 48,000 people.

In the terrible Backergunge hurricane of 1876 the water rose from 30 to 40 feet in less than half an hour during the night of October 31-November 1, and 100,000 persons perished.

One on the Pastor

The good parson was a little absent-minded, and somewhere or other during the day, possibly at the barber shop, he acquired a hat that looked very like his, but belonged to some one else.

That evening he dined out and when the guests were leaving the host accompanied them to the door.

"This is yours, is it not?" said the host, picking up the parson's hat.

"Yes," said the parson, "that is mine."

There was a queer smile on the host's face as he handed over the headgear. For pasted in the crown thereof was a card bearing this legend, meant for all and sundry: "No, my friend, this is not your hat!"

Obedience

I do not know anyone who makes us feel more than Milton does the grandeur of the ends which we ought to keep always before us, and therefore our own pettiness and want of courage and nobleness in pursuing them. I believe he failed to discern many of the intermediate relations which God has established between Himself and us; but I know no one who teaches us more habitually that disobedience to the divine will is the seat of all misery to men.—F. D. Maurice, in "The Friendship of Books."

Polish Government Has Four Big Monopolies

New York.—The establishment of a match monopoly by the Polish government, which, as recently announced, will be operated for 20 years jointly by an American and Swedish corporation, brings the number of state monopolies in Poland to four. The others are alcohol, tobacco and salt.

Revenues from the existing monopolies during the first quarter of 1925, official reports received by the American-Polish chamber of commerce show, amounted to $13,000,000. The budget estimates for the current year anticipate total net receipts from the existing monopoly, at $73,000,000.

Profits from the monopolies will constitute about 18 per cent of the government's revenues this year.

The alcohol monopoly is expected to yield $20,000,000 in 1925, the first year of its operation.

Sheldon Tonight At High School

When the Chamber of Commerce announced the Forum of Fundamentals through a general circular several weeks since, it was announced addresses would be given to all civic bodies such as Rotary, Kiwanis and other organizations of business and professional people, such as the bar association, medical association, dental association, women's clubs, labor organizations, etc. Many such addresses have been given but several of the organizations mentioned have not been having meetings during the period covered by the public part of the Forum meetings. Several will not hold their regular meetings until after the Forum is over.

Tonight's meeting at the High School has been organized for the purpose of giving the members of all such organizations and the public in general the opportunity to hear an exposition of the Philosophy of Service. While it is, of course, understood that Mr. Sheldon cannot teach Human Engineering in a public lecture, his exposition of the principle of Service from the viewpoint of the philosophy of it is of such a nature that it can be made to accomplish much good.

Self-Sacrifice of Son Not Deserved Reward

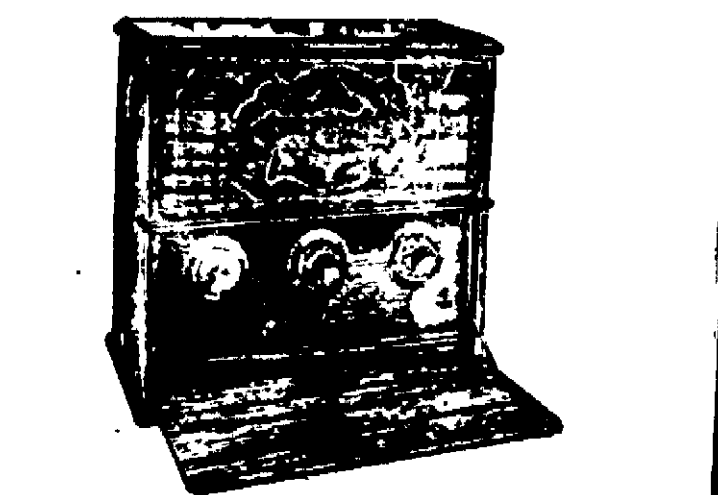

Wonderful in surgical anatomy, says a writer in the Glasgow Evening Citizen, was the case of a Scottish woman who sustained shocking injuries in a runaway accident. Her skull and both legs were fractured, and her left arm and one side of her face badly lacerated. Her son, a young physician, abandoned his practice and set himself to endeavor to restore his mother's life. Every one else had given up her case as hopeless. Day and night he devoted his whole time to her, and so inspired not only her nurses, but the poor sufferer herself, that she survived and began slowly to mend.

But the institution of the face caused terrible disfigurement. The son, however, insisted upon the attendance of a physician removing skin enough from his own body to graft upon the mother. One by one, he gave more than forty pieces of skin were cut from his body and grafted upon his mother's face and arm. In the end the woman not only recovered from injuries at first thought to be fatal, but also showed very slight disfigurement. In this case, however, filial duty was the motive for the sacrifice and perhaps similar disinterested motives have operated at least as powerfully in cases of this kind as the hope of monetary gain.
